A lesson in true humility

In today's Gospel story, Jesus gives his host a lesson in humility.

"When you hold a banquet, don't invite friends or relatives or wealthy neighbours, in case they may invite you back and you have repayment. Rather invite the poor, the cripples, the lame, and the blind, who are unable to repay you. You will be repaid at the resurrection of the righteous."

St Francis expressed this attitude perfectly when he said: "What I am before God is what I am, and nothing more." Thomas Carlyle, the British historian, put it succinctly, "Show me the man you honour, and I will know what kind of man you are."

The Pharisees were preoccupied with "earning" a high place in heaven. Jesus counsels them to practice what they preach about God's concern for the poor and thereby to gain true merit. In other words, Jesus suggests, "Do something really different! Invite to your parties the people who have little to bring with them."

The blessing, recognition and benefit you are worried about will come, though not through the means you expect." The freedom that comes with knowing we are loved and sustained by God is a freedom to give generously of our resources, to give the best place to others without concern for ourselves.

Just as Jesus challenges his fellow guests, so he challenges us. He warns us that those who will be saved will not be people like the Pharisees. The deeper message of this parable is that if we exalt ourselves, we are going to face embarrassment before the judgment seat of God, the Host who has invited us to the banquet of life.

When God became man, He chose to occupy the lowest possible seat. Paul described in Phil. 2:7-8, the six steps in humility that God took in coming to this earth. "Jesus emptied himself, taking the form of a slave, coming in human likeness; and found human in appearance, he humbled himself, becoming obedient to death, even death on a cross."

Humility was Jesus' favourite theme. "Everyone who exalts himself will be humbled, but the one who humbles himself will be exalted" (Luke 14:11);
